

Covid 19 (Coronavirus) Statement

Due to the Covid 19 pandemic we can confirm that Drew Memorials will still be operating until the government guidelines say otherwise. Where we would take appointments we will be avoiding these interactions to protect the greater public and to adhere to the advice around social distancing. We are in a fortunate position where we have the technology to take orders and answer any questions via telephone and email.

Over the next few weeks we have staff that will be taking time off to care for their children, so although we are still operating, orders may take a little longer than usual, but we will update any customers that are affected.

If you attend the office/workshop and we are not open, we will still be contactable by telephone or email.
